Ageless design

A stunning modern kitchen with the practicalities of comfort and style

THE L-SHAPED KITCHEN IS BEAUTIFULLY CONTRASTED BY THE FREESTANDING ISLAND, WHICH HAS BEEN ANCHORED TO THE CEILING VIA A FLOOR-TO-CEILING PANEL.

shadowline handles and benchtop thickness variations of 40mm to 110mm. The lighter colour scheme catches the eye with a touch of natural timber in the benchtop legs, while the recessed overhead cabinet introduces a third colour, creating a stunning yet understated visual combination.

For the final touch, the lighting of the breakfast bar, above and below the recessed wall cabinets, gives a clean, spacious look to match the open plan of the home and allow for the practicality in meeting the needs of the family. There's an array of top-branded appliances, such as Smeg, Omega, Bosch and Westinghouse, and extras including a cutlery insert and hidden microwave. These touches combined with the flawless design of this modern kitchen mean the owners couldn't have possibly asked for more.

This new home required something different — an everyday kitchen just wouldn't do. After many meetings with the owners and their two grown children, the designer, Geoff Cummins, realised he had to create a kitchen that was more than ordinary yet practical with an ageless design and colour scheme.

To match the gorgeous modern home surrounding it, the kitchen had to accommodate a number of design considerations. With the formal dining room on one side and a stunning view looking out onto the raised pool and entertaining area on the other, nothing less than a classic, ageless look would suit. The design also had to be suitable and accessible by four steps leading up to the kitchen from the front door.

To achieve this, Geoff chose a minimalist layout with straight lines that carried through to the
